Rev. C. C. Jarrell, Pastor Methodist Church Augusta, Scores Loose Fashions.

"I saw fashions 'in woman's dress in Italy in 1912, and thank God as I saw them, I thought that down in dear old Dixie such things were not known. When lo, I found the fashions had beaten me home—that I had taken a slow boat.

"I saw public 'love-making' and loose conduct between the sexes in public parks and on public streets and again I thanked God that there was a spot down in dear old Dixie where such things were not seen. But day by day, I find in Augusta and Atlanta, wherever I go, that the same loose spirit is traveling around the world."

Dr. Charles C. Jarrell, pastor of St. John's M. E. Church, South, so told his congregation Sunday morning. The pastor handled his subject of present day immorality and evils in a plain, unglossed manner. He decried the present fashions and asked pointedly what is the world coming to?

The pastor of St. John's took as his subject, "A revival or a revolution," basing his text on the idea that only a great moral awakening that shall arouse deep, moral convictions will be able to arrest the evil tendencies of our times and check the wild rush toward folly and extravagant and extreme fashions; the excitement of making money fast and other perils that threaten our life today.

"Revivals of religion in a broad sense have always made great epochs in history, Bible movements recorded in the Bible and also critical epochs in church history. The movements that grew out of great revivals affected were more permanent than the rise and fall of dynasties and nations had done. English and American history in 200 years differed from the French and German largely while Prussia had her Frederick the Great, France her Voltaire, England had her Wesley and the moral awakening of the 18th century.

"English and American types of Democracy have come from these moral awakenings under Wesleyan Endland and Edwards and others in America. Great revivals such as this had changed revolutions into progress and had saved nations from the wild terrors such as the French revolution knew and such as Russian Bolshevism had produced," said Dr. Jarrell.

Four Signs of Revolution.

The pastor pointed out four signs of revolution in the present day.

1. Political reaction that is on us, recoiling from the spirit of idealism and humanity that so unified and aroused the nation when we faced the common foe. The Congress had squandered that hour for the American people.

2. We are in the back wash of the war with its crime and immorality; its moral uncertainty and its defiance of ancient standards of right and wrong.

3. Spirit of commercial speculation that is abroad in the land threatening to unsettle the moral stamina of the nation. Fortunes made overnight are almost as demoralizing as a game of chance itself.

4. The fashions of the day are too full of folly and are so extravagant and extreme, the spirit of reckless frolic and heedless rush after amusements, are threatening to sweep away all standards that would check the mad desire for some pleasure which would break the gray monotony of life.

Loose Conduct.

It was then that Dr. Jarrell told his congregation of the daring open "love-making" and loose conduct between the sexes that he had witnessed during a tour of Italy and European countries in 1912.

"The magazine writers are telling us that in England the gay young girls of certain classes, without moral convictions and fretting over the scarcity of men arising from the slaughter of war, are turning life into a hunt for sinful pleasure. The writers tell us that they are making married men their selfish mark. I make no indictment against English womanhood, I simply recite what I am reading as news from England and some of the troubles they are having.

"Another dangerous sign of the times is certain hysteria resultant doubtless as a reaction from the intensity and restraint felt by the nation during the war. Fads take the day and sweep through the land like war crys of salvation. As for example, the revival of spiritualism, ouija board monkeying and such like things.

Challenge to the Church.

"All these things constitute a challenge to the Christian churches. The biggest brains of the day in business and in statesmanship on both sides of the water are telling us that the religion of the Lord, Jesus Christ, fired with deep moral conviction and building strong characters, is the only force that can save us from Bolshevism on the one hand, or the man on horseback on the other. Such a call has been sent out by Charles M. Schwab, the steel king; Secretary Daniels, President Hibben; Secretary Wilson, Editor Holt, Secretary Lansing, Henry Van Dyke, Editor Edmunds and others.

"Is the church ready and able to respond in this hour of need? There are many wholesome signs and hopeful tokens but her almost complete lack of discipline makes it difficult to rally her moral forces for an attack on vice, anarchy, infidelity and such like.

"Protestantism has created an individual spirit. This has been the glory of democratic institutions, but individual assertion without conscientious restraint borne out of faith in God may lead to license in religion just as the same may lead to license Bolshevism in politics.

"Our church leaders have warned our people against covetousness in men and worldliness in women and folly in fashion. Great conventions and conferences have set the standard high but, the individual church member goes his or her own, sweet way, caring not a thrip for it all. This is the great weakness today of our Protestant churches. Each American boy is entitled to a father who fears God, believes in the truth and has something in him to feed the boy's fondness for a hero. Each American boy is entitled to a mother the wife of one husband, unless the first is under the sod, who does not drink or smoke or gamble and who knows how to dress herself and who dances, if at all, only with her close kin," said Dr. Jarrell in concluding.

Big Touring Cars Get to Augusta.

Two immense "rubber-neck" automobiles, one a White and the other a Pierce-Arrow, carrying 34 passengers, both sexes, from St Augustine, Fla to Massachusetts, arrived in Augusta at 9 o'clock Sunday evening and created much attention as the passengers grabbed their baggage and disembarked, preparatory to spending the night at a local hotel.

The party came to Augusta today from Macon. In the 1,500-mile trip between the Florida resort and the Bay State, 12 states will be traversed and 12 days will be consumed in the journey, the party covering 125 miles a day.

On the trip to this city the pilgrims were obliged to go 200 miles out of their way because of the bad roads, chain of swamps and wrecked bridge over a stream. The time will be made their destination.

Up before the excursionists reach Ten sightseeing cars, each carrying 24 passengers, are owned by the company operating this line. The party leaves Boston each year in October and returns north again to conduct their trips at New England resorts in April.

At 9 o'clock this morning two monster cars are bound for Columbia, where they will stop for the night.

Winter tourists make up the passenger list, a charge of $25 for carriage for the 1,500-mile trip being asked, each tourist to purchase his own meals and lodging en route.—Augusta Chronicle.

EVERY dollar that you spend foolishly, every proportionate amount of money that you earn that it would be possible to save and do not, is only money that you have to work for again. On the other hand every dollar you put in the bank is money that is going to constantly work for you. Which is the best; money always working for you, or you always working for your money.
